Chamber of Commerce Outlines What It Hopes To Accomplish In A Co-operative

Your Chamber of Commerce feels that it has a real obligation to every individual, firm or institution with even a slight interest in the Commercial, Industrial, Social or Religious life of the Community. The field of service is so great that we cannot attempt to review or outline a program in this, our first bulletin. We can only list a few of the projects for which we solicit your suggestions or support.

Livestock Market—The Cattlemen's Association and RDB have done excellent work in this, our very important project. It still needs every best possible effort. Our fast growing cattle industry is so vast and so important that the eyes of the nation are upon it. Do not make the mistake of thinking that the annual meeting of the National Association of Livestock Producers being held in Miami is just an empty formality. It is a national institution in Florida and is an important center.

Kirchman Again Installed As The President Of RDB

Claude Gained, Past President, and acting as Chairman of the nominating committee, reported the unanimous choice of A. E. (Slick) Kirchman to succeed himself as president of the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board. Mr. Kirchman, along with the entire membership, was unanimously elected.

"Your Committee," said Mr. Gained, "has the honor to report to you the results of the control work beginning, the Industrial Exhibit and many other projects planned or commenced. The overall working set-up we now have will best serve the County as a continued group."

The RDB, it is acknowledged all along the line, is the most important unofficial organization effective in the promotion of the Overall Flood Control Plan, and is in daily contact with the "powers that be" in coping, encouraging and urging the progress of the work.

The RDB brought to a successful conclusion a campaign for the obtaining of a cattle auction market for the Glades, to be located just north of the Prison Farm.

The position of President demands a great deal of time, effort and expense and the nominating committee were glad when Mr. Kirchman agreed to take this on for another year.

How To Aid World Peace Is Told To Local Rotarians

United World Federalists Represented By Roy A. Short Of Lakeland

World Peace, since Woodrow Wilson's time in Paris, has been a topic for idealists on the same basis that The Church is "again sin." Theorizing and the writing of plans, and even the signing of treaties, have been indulged in while the public generally has patted its feet and shouted "amen" to whatever current war is a daily topic.

Now, that the world has just finished mass murder efforts on a world-wide scale and the cost in money and men seems futelily spent, the dreadfulness of the present war is a daily topic. Individuals are asking "What can I do to promote World Peace?"

Mr. Roy A. Short, representing the Florida UWF Advisory Board, has presented a thesis on the subject of World Peace.

Sales Tax Bill Puzzling One And Pretty Much Farce

It has been some time since Representative John Bollerger has been in the city, but the clubs of Belle Glade, but he did date before the Lions club on October 19th, in a forceful manner, his subject being "The Florida Sales Tax Law."

In order to get down to the meaty part of the subject, he reverted to conditions existing before and during the first of the Legislature sessions, in regard to the entire taxation situation. His story was not a very pretty one to hear, from a political point of view, but it was interesting to the auditors, showing the chaffing, intrigues and political chicanery which brought about the introduction and passage of the present incomplete and certainly puzzling tax bill.

He claimed that the Governor or Cabinet at the opening of the regular session had presented an estimate of $22,000,000, in new taxes to meet state operative requirements, only to later increase it to $40,000,000, on the basis of the two hours prior to the time to adjourn the regular session, so no appropriation bill could possibly be passed. He ended with an extra session of the Legislature.

Between the period of the two sessions he did not see where any economy changes were prepared or intended to be. He stated that the Governor became a member of the so-called "Economy" block, as did the Palm Beach, Elkhart, Pahokee, and a therefore "voted against the bill."

He stated at no time was the Florida bill or appropriations in danger, although some tried to make it a red herring item. Outside of this one item, the Legislature did not provide any new advantages for the state or tax payers than it then possessed. Many of its measures were directly favorable to North Florida against the tax paying section of South Florida.

He stated he hoped the new sales tax bill would be workable, and noted that $8,000,000 of Palm Beach taxes would be sent to Tallahassee, and what we would receive in return for the future would be the taxes on the shoulders of the heavy burden, and would need much explanation.

Pickens Becomes An East Coast Wanderer

Enory Pickens, formerly of Pahokee, and who was a candidate for sheriff of the county, just having been elected to the Palm Beach, has been appointed as a member of the State Game Commission staff, with territorial jurisdiction as a companion officer to Herb Wells.

Knapp, of Ft. Lauderdale as chairman and Ed McDonald, of West Palm Beach, as secretary-treasurer. The next district golf tournament will be staged at Vero Beach on Sunday, November 17th, and the next one at Belle Glade, at a date to be named.

A new plan, for the tournament at Vero Beach will be in the hands of the Elks lodge, which may bring eight or more players to work in the preliminary games, and the four low score players will be named. The team of the day, playing for the club honors.

Muller also announced that there would be a three day golf tournament for the state convention at West Palm Beach, next week, at Lake Goldsmith, description.

Rams Run Wild Over Gesu Team By 32 To 0 Score

Owing to an accommodation shift to Miami Beach, the game to have been played there on Friday night, was shifted ahead to Saturday night. This game with Miami Beach was the first game that the Golden Rams have played since they became a factor in conference football, so both teams were facing new opponents, and the Rams were a bit rusty.

As has been predicted the Golden Rams had little trouble in running over Gesu's plucky team of lads, but just lacking a punch punch to gain against the Rams, and a better opponent. Nevins, their ace passer and runner was bottled up by the Rams, and while he did his best for Gesu, and did some nice work, it led to no counter. The Rams were on their toes in the defensive game, with Williams, Revels, and a Cameron doing some fine ball totting leading up to touchdowns.

One additional touchdown was denied the Rams, when Gesu one foot line, the white blew for period.

Relief Comes

Mr. Merrill Barr, Member of the State Road Department for this district informed THE HERALD Thursday that "at the meeting in Miami on the 15th of November a contract will be let for the resurfacing of the road from South Bay west to the Hendry County line."

Mr. Merrill was informed that he has the sincere thanks of the entire community, and he stated that the local situation has so many new things asked of it that it has taken some time to get around to them all.

In connection with this announcement the public might remember that B. Elliott and John Bollinger joined by representatives from the north at Okeechobee and on our west, with the State Road Board some few weeks ago on an inspection trip around the east and south ends of the lake.

Another milestone in the progress of "the greatest agricultural area in the country" and to everyone who had anything to do with getting this road we say "THANK YOU."

To An American Russia Is Not The Place To Reside

It was the pleasure of the Lions club to hear a word from behind the iron curtain from a man American, now serving in the U. S. Embassy at Moscow, now home on furlough. The speaker was Jerry Carter, of Bradenton, a brother of Linn Bill Carter, who has long been in diplomatic work for his nation.

Among the statements Carter made were the following: "The finest thing in all Russia are the common citizens who secretly are most friendly to Americans, but who are curbed against showing their good will toward us. That following the close of the recent war, there was a general approval of the American way of life."

Consumers' Problems

By Mrs. Ora D. Lee
Mrs. Lee has conducted special research on this problem at Tuskegee Institute, Durham, Hampshire Institute, Virginia, and at the University of Chicago, Ohio.

Without the consumer, there would be no markets. Therefore, it is well here to consider the market as problem one, for the consumer to understand and solve.

In recent years the consumer movement centered on raising the level of efficiency in consumer activities as choice making, product selection and use of goods, and improving the economic system in the consumers' interest.

To reach a satisfactory improvement in the economic system, it must provide goods and services to the consumer at reasonable prices. The consumer services must contribute to efficient services of the consumer. Since the consumer is the center of real life experiences, he must be satisfied from the standpoint of the democratic way of life, being free to choose and decide what is best to accept or to reject. It is upon this theory that the foundation of consumer education is laid.

With the desire to know more about prices, values, and costs, the consumer seeks to educate himself about markets and marketing trends.

Much emphasis has been placed upon inefficiencies of the consumers and defects in the economic system. Business men are concerned with the problems possibly more than some consumers have concerned themselves.

First, we will consider what constitutes a good market. Since consumers want goods and services, we consider their quality and cost in time and energy as well as in dollars and cents. A good market provides (1) commodities which the consumers want and are ready to pay for, (2) to provide a wide variety from which to choose, (3) there is no pressure to buy, (4) prices are fair, (5) no waste or inefficiency, (6) no waste or inefficiency, (7) large demands, (8) ample supply, (9) free entry.

How well does the market measure up to these standards is a question to be answered. In a competitive market, the consumers free to choose the market in a large measure is forced to respond to the consumers' demand; but the system in this respect is far from perfect. The separation of the producer and consumer and his commitments. In many ways the producers attempt to control demand rather than follow it. Only when actual purchasing takes place can sellers be absolutely sure of the extent of demand. This occurs only after goods are brought in the market. This is why many producers cling to the old line instead of adding new items.

The market may be criticized for providing unnecessary variety. Hundreds of brands of a single product are available in the stores of larger cities where the qualities important to consumers could be met by half a dozen.

Yet, the market has produced harmful to consumers. The presence of harmful products, without adequate warning of possible danger, may be a source of ignorance on the part of the producers in an effort to keep shows income median of families of various occupational groups 1935-36:

Wage earning, $1,175; Farm, $865; Clerical, $1,090; Business, $2,485; Independent, $1,515 (salaried); Professional, $2,340 (salaried); Independent, $3,540 (salaried).

Many have said families are not interested in economy, yet they should buy on the basis of services offered, for style and not durability, and should realize what a small part of the cost of their personal observations have included.

Recently in many large cities, consumer education classes have been conducted by mass approval to teach the consumer buymanship, testing, and also how to bring about proper legislation to protect interests of the consumer and the welfare of the general public. The goals of these groups were to shape marketing practices: (a) By requests for information about products; (b) Pricing techniques; (c) Sales methods; (d) National league of products; (e) Testing of products; (f) Price selection.

The consumer has not just awakened out of a nightmare and realized that he needs more consumer information and guidance. It was in 1927 when Chase and Schlink sent out a book entitled "Your Money's Worth" into the American home. The book was about the consumer dollar. Housewives, clubs, and civic became much concerned. Choice for Your Money" became a battle song for the consumer. Although a great deal of progress has not been made in consumer education, the problems created are slowly but surely being solved. In 1929 the Consumers Research, Inc., the first agency testing consumer products and reporting relative brand names, was a national step following "Your Money's Worth." It was also received heartily. Step by step, consumer interests increased. The New Deal gave us the Advisory Board of N.R.A., the County Consumers' Council; the Consumer's Council; the Agricultural Adjustment Administration; the National Bituminous Coal Commission, and others which have given us a new day in consumer movement. To show that the consumer movement was not only a part of American life, professional groups as the American Home Economics Association, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National League of Women Voters, and the American Association of University Women have contributed to the consumer movement.

LAKE SHORE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

By Pres. Charles M. McCurdy

Mothers Club Meets
The second meeting of the Lake Shore Elementary Mothers' Club was held on Monday evening, October 24. Present: Hanford appointed the following to officers: Mrs. I. V. Briggs, Vice-President; Mrs. Nettie Edgemoor, Secretary; Mrs. Dora Kendall, Treasurer.

A large proportion of the consumers live outside of family units, but form a small part of the whole population. Distance and type of stores to which the consumer has access largely determine buying habits. In addition, we have factors which largely influence the type and amount of buying to take care of family needs.

It has been found that even farm families do not rely upon homemade products. Nearly as much as in the past where home is low, small families are forced to purchase of family needs.

discussion, however, was primarily concerned with the use of textbooks. The group decided to use for the first time filmstrips are offered as a part of a basic reading program. They are a valid type of teaching aid in developing growth in basic reading skills. The textfilm may be used as a medium for recall and as a basis for discussion of experiences the children may have.

Also they can turn their classroom experiences where actual experiences are impossible. Primarily the films are used to (1) Build a background of experiences which add meaning to concepts, (2) provide picture material which stimulates language development, (3) develop test ability to use known vocabulary in new context, (4) help simplify the teaching of word recognition techniques.

The school plans to build a large and varied library of textfilms for use at all grade levels throughout the school. At present the library consists of the following titles for use with Alice and Jerry Basic Pre-Primary. Live in the Country, Tell Another Story, Animals to Know, Away We Go, Open the Door, Skip Along, and Under the Sky.

BOY SCOUTS
Troop 68 of Belle Glade, led by Mr. J. W. Harris, will hold fall camp program. In the three units of the scouting program there are 73 boys registered. In the Boy Scouts troop there are 34 boys, 11 to 14 years of age. In the Explorer unit we have 14 boys, 14 and above. In the Senior unit we have 12 boys. In the entire troop we have a total registration of 73 boys, with 85 percent active participation in scout activities. Our Scoutmaster senior unit and committee will attend a training course for adult leaders at Camp Small, Sunday, October 30th, at Jupiter, Florida.

Our troop is far short of adequate adult leadership. We are hoping that through this article, more adults will become interested in our troop and will visit our meetings, which are held every Wednesday night, 7:30 o'clock at the Pull Beavers Lodge, hall, 619 S.W. Ave. C-pl. and volunteer their services to help train our boys, who will be citizens of tomorrow.

Any program that teaches a boy to do his best, to do his duty to God and his country and keep himself physically strong, mentally straight, should be worthy of our sacrifices to instill these fine principles into boys.

hangers had been converted into very beautiful and useful stocking hangers. At 7 o'clock the president, Mrs. Daisy Murrell presided the enthusiastic workers to pause for a short meeting. At the end of the meeting, in keeping with the Halloween spirit, the hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be held on November 1st at the home of Mrs. Gladys Wright.

SCHOOL NEWS OF EVERGLADES VOCATIONAL HIGH
By Cecia Miller

The seniors are very proud of their class rings which they received last Wednesday. They are planning to leave the pattern for the school's crest because it never had one. The school's first song was originated in 1946 by the freshmen, who are now seniors. They are proud to wear this song for their yearbook work. Each member is doing his share of work.

Much praise is due Delores Foster and Willie Fred Wimblerly of the tenth grade for having made straight A's in their classes. The school is keeping up the good work! The Athletic club took charge of chapel Monday, Mr. King, our assistant coach, gave us some good points on how football is played and discussed the scheduling of many terms frequently used in football. The pep-squad led the student body in football yell during the chapel exercises. The program was enjoyed by everyone.

The instructors are working diligently with students in order that we may be able to put over a big program for the homecoming game. The Bobcats are playing Key West on November 18, which is our homecoming day.

Sixth Grade News
Grade six has chosen the following pupils to lead them for the school term 1949-50: Melvin Stephens, President; Ulysses Frederick, Vice-President; Clyde Wilson, Secretary; Rosa L. Howard, Assistant Secretary; Quinton Harrell, Treasurer; Nathaniel Harrell, Business Manager; Vell Nelson, Chaplain and Estelle Miller, Reporter.

During the past week we enjoyed learning and reciting Autumn poems. The names of the poem are: "A Vagabond Song," Bliss Carman; "Autumn," Emily Dickinson; "Hallowe'en," W. C. Sullivan; "The Mist and All," Choral.

It has been much fun painting with tempera. We didn't know that we could get along so well without a pencil, but we did.

For the next few days we will be busy making our Halloween masks for our Hallowe'en party. "Happy Birthday" to the following pupils who were born October: George Lawson, John Lawson, Vell Nelson, Evelyn Wilson, and Elizabeth Evelyn.

OBSERVATIONS

church construction started in earnest the past week, and all members are eagerly waiting its completion and dedication at Easter.

There is an old adage that music has power to soothe the savage beast. Well after that roaring lion club got through hearing their first musical program in several years, they were a mellow bunch of animals. The accordion artist played for the writer his favorite selection of "When I Grow Too Old to Dream." The wonder of all was the dexterity of the player in the fingering of the organ and side keys, the instrument key-board being based on the old reed organ music.

Rev. B. E. Scoggins, and his devoted church wife, who has been pastor of the Canal Point Baptist church, have been notified by the Foreign Missionary Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, that they have been selected, and will be assigned to missionary field work in Palestine, on a life service tenure. The Scoggins climatically will enjoy the same conditions as they have experienced while residence of the Florida Everglades. Their parishioners wish them success and God's blessing in their far away mission home.

Under Street Commissioner Harris, the city has in contemplation the improvement of Avenue B, First and Second streets, which are in bad condition. Avenue B will be widened and repaved similar to Avenue A.

Belle Glade Lodge of Elks has been invited and has accepted the duties of conducting a "Dutch Auction" sale at the PTA Halloween carnival, and one else but that prime auctioneer, Mayor Harold Rubin will be selling off the odds and ends of variety gifts which the new ordinance passed allows the home closets and attic. This booth will sure be one that every one will want to visit during the evening. There will be some queer and unique souvenirs offered there, and of course there will be one or more "MAIN" prizes to be auctioned off. Auctioneer Rubin hopes these will bring as much as did his "sport shirt" recently at an Elks club auction.

The City Commission program for Health, Sanitation and Safety is not stopping on building improvements, but now a new ordinance passed allows a sanitary bed fixtures, mattresses, towels and house hold equipment in camps, tourist places, apartments and rooming houses. No more used and stain spotted mattresses, bed linen and coverlets will be permitted. Construction or erection of such commodities can be made by the Safety and Health department officials. The ordinance is passed for the benefit of the tenants rather than the property owners who try to get by with as little as possible in conveniences, in order to swell their own pocketbooks.

When strangers from out of state by accident or purposely make a trip into the rich Everglades farming section, they are amazed at what they see and learn, and exclaim "I never knew there was such a section in Florida." Well conditions down here are common to us "muck rats" but visitors do come into a new world and see new methods of farming and new sights, and there is no wonder that they are amazed. We who have stuck by and built up our garden and are proud of what we have accomplished and we know we have ability and means to make it even more of a paradise than it is. It will be almost unbelievable what this country will be like a decade from now.

In reading my northern town papers I note that Hiram college, operated by the Disciple or Christian church, has reached its centenary celebration. This was the old Western Reserve Electric Seminary to which Jas. A. Garfield went to get his schooling after he left driving canal boat horses. He later became its efficient president and was so serving when he was elected to the U. S. Senate, to later become the president of the United States, only to be shot down by an assassin's bullet. My old alma mater, Mt. Union college, at Alliance, has been given a bequest from the Wives of Union Veterans for a continuing scholarship for lineal heirs of Union veterans of $2500.

Happened to be over at the High school at noon, recently and Prof. Hobson knowing my proclivities for good eats, invited me in for dinner. Well, if the dinner I got, is a sample of the meals the children get each day, then they are fortunate, but might be satisfying. More than 500 of the 700 children in school take their noon day meal there.

I do not know where my fishing spirit has gone of late. Even with a fine new casting rod outfit, I am not moved to try out. Fied that the hurricane played heck with my cane poles under the house. Guess the acquirement of new outfit and the lack of the right bait has stymied the fishing game for me.

There is a little triangle piece of land out on Palm Beach Road and East Avenue B, which has for years been used by Frank Morris, at his piling lot. We are informed that he is moving his business location elsewhere. The owner Mr. Harry Kinnoff has offered the use of the land to the city for the use of an attractive flower park, and it is likely to be taken over for that purpose. Either the Women's Garden Club or the Risk sisters may be given the custodianship of same, for the growing of flowers, for display purposes. There are other locations that could be given similar improvement, all tending to the beautification of city.

Have wandered around Memorial field a bit at the football games, and have noted that quite a number of negroes, both men and women, stanced in the end zones of the playing field, watching and enjoying the game. There are a lot of negroes who are dyed in the wool sport fans, but most of the "white" athletic games, if they had a welcome and proper place for seating to see the game in an orderly manner. White people, why not stands for the colored folk?

"I recall that some months ago, that the City Commission, voted that safety guards intersecting along the south side of the Hillsboro canal. The guards have never been erected, and placed at the south side of the canal to be a safety hazard for auto traffic. Mr. Harris can't we have them before someone goes over in the canal? The guards might save lives.

As some advances along the years of life, fifty year celebrations come to many persons, which have sentiment of a deep nature attached to them. On October 16th, in Warren, Belle Harmon Corps, W.R.C. is to celebrate its 60th anniversary, and to honor its fifty year members. This year three such members will be honored, Mrs. Sam Oldham, Mrs. Frances Beabrook, of Warren and Mrs. Clara Gledhill, of Belle Glade. These three women worked for years in the Corps and were next door neighbors. In this order, Mrs. Gledhill was Corps president, district president and Department organizer and chaplain, and devoted much of her life to patriotic organization work. A half century membership in the Rebekahs and a Golden Wedding celebration are due her the coming year.

The New England states, Wisconsin and Minnesota are the main sections where are acid cranberry, a marsh berry are grown. This berry is used mostly for sauces and are most popular about the holiday time.

Some growers are now introducing a new product, a cranberry concentrate, a rival to Florida and California citrus concentrates.

One day a boy of 15 wrote on the blackboard these words: "Walter is the best kisser in school." Upon seeing these words his very attractive teacher told Walter to stay after school. When Walter finally left school that day, several of his friends were waiting for teacher had said and what happened. Walter would not tell anything, but after much coaxing and questioning, he finally told. "Well fellows, I'll tell you, IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."

A man who is in business and doesn't advertise, is like the young fellow who winks at a pretty girl in the dark; he knows what he is doing, but on one die does. There is a hidden suggestion to merchants in this story, which is, ADVERTISE.

The Federal and State money handlers seem to be getting to the floor control project. Contracts can now be asked and get for some of the east coast dike work, which set the big project off to a good start. Mechanical equipment operations will soon be an order of the day and thousands of men will be drawing pay checks. Industrial activity will be immense for the coming decade. This project will be the salvation of the immense Glades sector. Its protective returns will mean millions for loan, farm and industrial operators.

In a conversation with "cobler" Harvey Mathews, I asked him who was the man in Belle Glade who wore the largest give the name of the banker he named for that he would enclose on my mortgage. Harp says he has a number of patrons who wear size 14's, and many others that pull on 12's. It takes a sizeable strip of leather to resole such large sized shoes. He says very few hand made shoes or boots are brought in these days for repair, for the old time shoemaker, has passed out of the picture, as factory competition drove them to the sticks. Mexico is the only country where they stick to the handmade shoes, and some of these reach the States. It is a government subsidized business in Mexico, to provide labor with means of a living.

I recall that my father owned several pairs of shoes and knee high handmade boots, which he could shine up, or rather I did, like a diamond, and he never felt dressed for the pulpit, unless he had his feet in a pair of them. That little old button hook was a pretty important implement in the days when such shoes were in vogue. Do you remember the pointed shoe days? Sure were some "dilly" styles in that period.

According to the record of Editor Paul Bardin, the first car load of refrigerated beans went out of the Glades in 1925, over the then new Florida East Coast. In the period since that date millions of cars have been shipped all over the marketing world. This editor is sold on the corn deal and predicts the corn will soon pass beans in volume of shipment. He also thinks quite favorable of the ramie deal, and that while mil-lins have been made there still millions to garner, when we get our contemplated flood and conservation system in full working order. He points with pride to the new County Airport on Bacon Point, as an added adjunct to the shipping facilities for the Glades area.

The United States Sugar Company, at Clewiston, which has operated a small but well managed hospital for some years past, is closing it for commercial uses at the end of the present month, and will operate only for its sick or injured employees. Hendry County people have long been clamoring for a County Hospital, and steps are now being made to form a Hospital Association to erect and equip such a public institution. The county already has a credit of $75,000, from state funds, earmarked for that purpose.

The American soybean is not only popular in America, where it is used for many purposes, but also with France and Italy where it is used for a substitutive oil for olive oil.
